FOREWORD

This report summarizes information received from State Research Coordinating Units (RCU's) regarding research activities conducted under Section 131(b) of Part C of the Vocational Education Amendments of 1968. This report covers the first six months of Fiscal Year 1973. The purpose of the report is to provide information that will assist States to be aware of research and development conducted by other States, thus facilitating exchange of information and reducing duplication of effort.

This Semiannual Report has been prepared by staff members of the Program Development and Operations Branch of the Division of Vocational and Technical Education. This is the sixth in a series of reports on the activities of the State RCU's. The first report was entitled Annual Report on State Research Coordinating Unit Activities for Fiscal Year 1970 (ED-053-293), and covered the period from July 1, 1969 to June 30, 1970. The second report was entitled Semiannual Report on State Research Coordinating Unit Activities for the Period July 1, 1970 to December 31, 1970 (ED-052-381). The third report was entitled Semiannual Report on State Research Coordinating Unit Activities for the Period January 1, 1971 to June 30, 1971 (ED-067-463). The fourth report was entitled Semiannual Report on State Research Coordinating Unit Activities for the Period July 1, 1971 to December 31, 1971(ED-068-718). The fifth report was entitled Semiannual Report on State Research Coordinating Unit Activities for the Period January 1, 1972 to June 30, 1972. Copies of these previous reports can be obtained from the ERIC Document Reproduction Service.

INTRODUCTION

During the first half of fiscal year 1973, no appropriation became available to the States under Section 131(b) of Part C of the Vocational Education Amendments of 1968. Therefore, it was necessary for the States to proceed with their research programs under a continuing resolution, which provided for a continuation of the program at last year's quarterly level of expenditure. The uncertainties associated with this type of funding had a detrimental effect on the planning and managing of the State research programs.

Working on the assumption that the appropriation which would ultimately become available would be at last year's level of $9 million, it was assumed that for fiscal year 1973 the minimum amount of research funding for a State would be $11,855 allocated for Alaska and the maximum would be $751,698 allocated for California. About 60 percent of the States were expected to receive more than $100,000 for research and development by the end of fiscal year 1973. These funds could be used for paying up to 75 percent of the costs of the State Research Coordinating Unit (RCU) and for grants and contracts covering 90 percent of the costs of research and/or developmental projects.

By the middle of the fiscal year, nearly half of the States reported the expenditure of 1973 funds for grants and contracts. A number of States continued to fund new research projects with carry-over monies from their 1972 allotments. However, only 27.2 percent of the $9 million anticipated for 1973 had been reported approved for grants and contracts. This low level of expenditures has been attributed to the uncertainty about the availability of funds under the continuing resolution. It is anticipated that the percentage will rise in the second half of fiscal year 1973.

The RCU's have continued to provide the leadership for the States' R&D programs in vocational education. In providing this leadership, the RCU's have given assistance to State vocational agencies and personnel, graduate students, teachers and a variety of other interested parties. They have also played a major role in long-range planning and the development of vocational research priorities. One of the most important activities of the RCU's is the disseminating of the results of research. In addition to the operation of their own dissemination efforts, the RCU's are a vital part of the national network of contributors to the ERIC collection. During the second quarter of fiscal year 1973, 71 project reports were submitted to USOE by RCU's for transmittal to the ERIC Clearinghouse at the Center for Vocational and Technical Education at Ohio State University. Of those reports, 70 were processed by the Clearinghouse and USOE was notified of the results of the processing: 37 percent of those reports will be listed in Research in Education, 60 percent of them will appear in ARM, and 31.4 percent were selected for the Supportive Information Component of the Comprehensive Career Education Model. The high acceptance-for-processing rate of these documents could imply that the quality of research supported by the RCU's is high.

For the first half of fiscal year 1973, career education ranked first on the list of priorities for research projects; twenty States funded seventy projects that related to aspects of the career education concept. This first priority was followed by a much smaller number of followup studies, evaluations, competency studies, manpower studies, and programs related to health careers. In addition, the States have continued to fund projects for the expansion and improvement of their ongoing vocational programs.

The Semiannual Report which follows is a compliation of State Quarterly Research Activity Reports covering the first two quarters of fiscal year 1973 which have been received from the States. Additional information on projects listed under the category of "new projects funded" may be located in the "Research Projects in Progress" section of Abstracts of Research and Related Materials in Vocational and Technical Education (ARM), published quarterly by the ERIC Clearinghouse on Vocational and Technical Education. Final reports of the "projects completed" are abstracted in the monthly issues of Research in Education and/or in the quarterly issues of ARM. All reported research projects administered by the State educational agency were included in this report, whether or not they were funded under Section 131(b) of Part C.
